

The Systems Change Option: easy upgrades and expansion

There are compelling benefits in financing your IT infrastructure with Syscap, not least the ability to better manage the costs associated with upgrading. Our Systems Change Option allows you to stay up to date with the latest IT, while still maintaining firm cost control.

How your Systems Change Allowance is calculated

The issue of upgrades can be viewed from two different perspectives. The IT department's role is to upgrade computers and software regularly to ensure employees are working as efficiently and productively as possible. The finance department's role is to manage the costs of IT assets in line with budgets and forecasts.

The Systems Change Option helps to reconcile these objectives. All our finance packages are designed to release spare funding capacity as the agreement progresses. You can make use of that capacity by acquiring new equipment without an increase in monthly payments.

For example, at the outset of a finance agreement, future upgrade schedules can be planned in, avoiding the cost 'creep' often associated with open-ended IT projects. Alternatively, on a more ad hoc basis, you can take advantage of rapid improvements in system cost performance, as they become available.

At a glance

- Stay up to date with the latest technology while still maintaining firm cost control
- Take advantage of rapid improvements in system cost performance, as they become available
- Use on an 'as required' basis, or integrate into a company-wide IT lifecycle management programme
- Expand your computer base for only a small monthly rental increase, allowing your IT system to grow with your business.

Avoid the problem of obsolescent IT, without worrying about capital constraints. Talk to your Syscap consultant about the Systems Change Option.

Please note: Eligibility for the Systems Change Option is subject to status.
